ALCE – Dissemination Seminar in Kaunas, Lithuania

In September 2014 ALCE dissemination seminar will be hosted by the Lithuanian partner Seniors Initiatives Centre in Kaunas, Lithuania. The last event of the ALCE project will be attended by national coordinators, trainers and learners coming from Austria, Italy, France, Lithuania and UK.

The aim of the seminar is to present ALCE Pedagogical Manual – Innovative Strategies for the participation and integration of migrant and senior women – to adult educators, civil society organizations and the general public. The seminar will start with a reflection on ALCE activities throughout this two-year project (10:00 till 10:30), later learners will share and talk about their experiences (10:30 till 11:00). The following session will be devoted to the presentation of ALCE Pedagogical Manual (11:00 till 11:30). After the coffee break, smaller groups of adult educators will learn how to use the Pedagogical Manual (12:00 till 13:00). Afterwards, the seminar participants will have a unique opportunity to taste national and fusion dishes from ALCE recipe book cooked by the learners in the modern kitchen of the sectoral practical training centre.

The event will end with the evaluation session and distribution of ALCE recipe books and Pedagogical Manuals.

The seminar will take place at Food Industry and Trade Training Centre, 23 Poskos str. in Kaunas, on 24th September 2014 from 9:30 till 14:30. To learn more about the event, please contact Edita Satiene by e-mail rasyk@senjoru-centras.lt or telephone +370 37 200178.

ALCE Pedagogical Manual

In the upcoming weeks the pedagogical manual of ALCE will be available for download in all partner languages, on the project website or it might be requested to all the partner organizations.

The manual covers all aspects of the ALCE method, developed in Italy, Austria, Lithuania, UK and France. Thanks to the contributions of the participants, the manual gives a very good overview about how to design and implement the workshops and the adult education seminars tested during the project.

ALCE News from Austria

On Monday, the 11th of August 2014 Verein Multikulturell presented the ALCE project, along with its outcomes and products to eleven voluntary members of the nursing home in Innsbruck, where the ALCE cooking sessions took place. Two project participants were also involved in this event. They had the opportunity to talk about their experiences, learning outcomes and the highlights of the project.

At the same time they came up with the idea to have a cooking session of their own at the nursing home which will be planned in the upcoming weeks.

ALCE News from Italy

CESIE presented the ALCE Pedagogical Manual – Innovative Strategies for the participation and integration of migrant and senior women at CESIE office in Palermo on September 11th.

Along with the presentation of the Manual, the event was marked by non-formal education activities and the contributions of some women who shared their experience in ALCE project.

ALCE News from The UK

On Thursday 26th June MEH presented the ALCE project at a conference and networking event at the Town Hall in Liverpool. The MEH team talked to members of the community as well as learning providers from the voluntary and community sector. There were also members of the public sector represented. We had a display stall at the event and distributed the ALCE flyer and Cookbook and presented the training methodology and case studies of the ALCE participants.

The event has generated a lot of local and regional interest in the project which we hope will lead to future delivery of ALCE in our community.

In addition two of the ALCE women have attended workshops of other MEH Projects and shared their experience of the project with other learners and communities. In May one of the ALCE women attended a conference in Bialystok, Poland and shared her ALCE experience as part of a Grundtvig learning partnership on connecting generations through intergenerational learning.
